

Frustrated God Creates Universe of Kittens

In a shocking development, rumors have surfaced that God has created an entirely separate universe populated entirely by kittens just to escape his regretted human race. Flipside sent reporter Hartford Cunningham to a remote mountain peak in the Himalayas with nothing but a grain of rice and a small bag of Funyuns, so he could ultimately bond with nature and get himself a spiritual interview with God regarding this fallback fluffy universe. The interview is featured below:

HC Are you there, God? I've come all this way just to find you.

St. Peter This is Saint Peter, how may I help you?

HC I really need to speak with God.

Bolt of lightning appears out of the blue, strikes peak of nearby mountain

St. P Sorry, it appears he's... uhhh... in the bathroom right now.

HC Are you serious? God has to use the bathroom?

St. P Yes... he should be out in a few.

HC I can wait

St. P When I said a few, I meant a few days... like 'creation' days... And then I guess he has to rest for a day or so afterwards.

HC Okay Pete, cut the creationist crap. We have all heard rumors that he created a whole new world populated entirely by kittens just so he didn't have to deal with us anymore.

St. P Did you try reading the Bible? Apparently, there's an answer for everything in there.

HC I've hiked the Himalayas for 3 months now for this stupid-ass sketchy college alternative newspaper with nothing but a grain of rice and some Funyuns. I came here for answers, I will leave with answers!

St. P You really want answers? Fine. He got sick and tired of your nonsense, your extremism, your discrimination. This modern day is the most anyone's ever prayed to him and the least anyone's ever listened to him. What did you expect him to do? Destroy the world again? He doesn't have to! You're great at doing it yourselves. So, he created a world which his creations would appreciate. And at least when kittens declare war on each other, IT'S THE CUTEST THING YOU'LL EVER SEE IN YOUR ENTIRE GODDAMN LIFE.

God PETER. DID YOU USE MY NAME IN VAIN AGAIN?

HC God? God! I can't believe it's actually you!

God Dammit Ted Cruz, is that you again? For the last time, I am not endorsing your presidential campaign!

St. P Actually God, this time it's the media.

God If it's the Onion, tell them I smite them to Hell for all eternity.

Lightning strikes same mountain again, meows heard in background.

The rumors have been confirmed as truth. Flipside promises to pay for all of Hartford's therapy from here on out. Flipside apologizes.

Trekkie Store-Owner Refuses Service to Jedi, Cites RFRA

LHC researchers discover alternate universe where you're not such an asshole

Social Worker advises homeless man to think outside his box

For more shenanigans, visit HoosierFlipside.com

Flipside writing staff prepares to take over for IUSA elections

For those who don't know, IUSA elections will be held April 8th and 9th. This will give every student a chance to voice opinions on what issues IU should prioritize, as it strives to make campus a better place. Issues such as student safety and environmental concern are on the table, but the Flipside writing staff had other ideas in mind...

Bismo Falcor

It is undeniable that ease of transportation is a major issue on campus. But fear not, Hoosier: I have the solution we've all been waiting for. Under my leadership, each and every crowded staircase will receive a brand new bike lane.

No longer will anyone have to worry about throats getting cut in the spokes of a bicycle on the way to the IMU Starbucks.

Benedict Clinkerton

I propose mandatory helmets and flashing safety vests for all incoming freshmen in order to protect the rest of the students.

Ed Eppus

As president of Indiana University, my platform would be geared toward intercollegiate politics. I vow to open up talks with Purdue on the peaceful production of biological superweapons, and move toward tearing down the IUPUI wall. My Edonomics policy would allocate 40 percent of IU's GDP to Coach Creen.

Constance T. Nopel

As Supreme Leader for the Indiana University Student Organization, I would require that all chalk advertisements be written in Comic Sans solely on the walls of Kelley, and, if read aloud, must be yelled in a vaguely racist Chinese accent.

Hálfján Methúsalemsson

I will personally build a 50 foot statue made of pure gold of Herman B Wells in mortal combat with a dragon and place it in front of the library for all to worship twice a day. Also, free condoms. And pizza.

Mystery Writer

THERE ARE TOO MANY BUILDINGS ON CAMPUS. We have devoted an entire building to the study of geology. Millions of dollars have been put into constructing a massive edifice, full of classrooms and lecture halls and offices, all devoted to staring at stones.

Campus is jam packed with buildings which exist for no purpose other than to make freshmen feel confused. If you vote for me, I will bomb these locations.

----- alternate universe updates -----

RFRA allows businesses to refuse service to those coveting their neighbor's wives

Ballantine staircase replaced with climbing rope

Snail makes significant contribution to society

McNutt frowns disapprovingly at Collins' rowdiness and lack of class

infographic

IU Food Hacks: Here are some recipe hacks to get the most out of your dining hall experience.

Edmonson Dining Hall at Collins

A Perfectly Inoffensive Buffet

Avoid red meat. This is perhaps the most offensive of all the meats, cleaved from Mother Earth's most beautiful and intelligent creature: the cow.

Avoid chicken. Chickens, nature's pringles, as they are called for their convenient stackability. This is inhumane however, and to it we call foul.

Avoid fish. Seriously? This is the Midwest.

Avoid dairy: see red meat.

Avoid salad bar. Every year the food industry wastes millions of tons of produce. Protest by not eating from this salad bar.

Avoid free trade coffee. By choosing free trade, you syphon money away from the underpaid unfree trade laborers who need it most.

Gresham Food Court

The Fresh-Gresh Taco

1 soft tortilla, well-aged

1 quart of green stuff

2 stray hairs

Doughnut

1 doughnut

The Round

Frappa-doublemocha-isolate-3,

4-dimethylcinnonone

- 2 Parts iced coffee

- 3 Parts chocolate syrup

- Add one chai tea latte, filtered through a Hollister Sweatshirt

- A liberal showering of glitter

- 2 Caramels melted over a heated argument on the gluten free diet

- A snozberry flavored vodka

- Finely minced artisanal cocaine

- Garnished with a barista's tear

Restaurants at Woodland

The Salad Line: The Mostly Cream and Crimson

1 leaf spinach

2 Squirts of ranch

A lil' more ranch

2 cups of ranch

I want it SWIMMING in ranch

2.5 chickens

I want THEM swimming in ranch

This is going to be a fucking chicken titanic

One cherry tomato

flip POLL

This year's April Fool's Day was incredibly eventful for so many people. How did yours turn out?

21%

Someday, I will laugh about the time my friend hid my mattress on the other side of the hall

13%

Someday, I will laugh about the time my friend dragged my mattress into Dunn Meadow

17%

Someday, I will laugh about the time my friend lit my mattress on fire

49%

Someday, my friend will regret rooming with me

Next Week's Poll:

What was your favorite April Fool's Day prank?

- Moving floor lounge garbage to the other side of the couch
- Unplugging friend's laptop while he thinks it's charging
- Laxatives in the brownies
- Baby doll in the garbage can
- Blowdart to the leg of the pizza guy...again
- Giving friend diet Coke instead of regular Coke

Follow Us
on Twitter

@HoosierFlipside